[redacted] and I attended a meeting with the DDCI, DDP and Dr. Charles Reichardt, Director, Division of Intelligence, AEC, in the DDCI's office. Dr. Reichardt was informed that we had little significant information to contribute [redacted] and that we understood the latest and most complete material was available in the State Department. Dr. Reichardt was also informed that the Agency had no information supporting current press speculation that some of the recent European suicides had involved atomic espionage. We discussed mutual problems regarding our respective relations with the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy staff and agreed on a generally common approach.
